Media Players

There are several media players (i.e. containers) that are available out there. Its up to you to adopt one that fits your needs. Although portable media players for mobile apps are becoming more and more popular, this page is strictly about making sure your video transcoded material fits into some kind of container, so that your audience can copy and paste your embed container onto their web sites for their pleasure of watching your personal project!

Which media player to adopt?

There are many flash players out there, part of the video clips posted on this web site use: this FLV Player. And you?

If you have another media player you wish to document and use, please let us know as we welcome your contribution.

Download Platipus.nl

You can pick-up the player at Foxtab.com or directly at Platipus.nl or bellow, you can copy/paste sample of what Palatipus.nl makes
