UserPageKiki

I'm doing some research for the Institute for Cultural Studies, Leuven, Belgium. We want our students to get to experiment with writing in new media like blogs and wikis.

We've installed a tikiwiki on on of our servers, but it is not ready to go public yet.

At this point I'm trying out the features that we will most likely be using: chat, forum, wiki, blog, the galleries, FAQ.
I've created a new style and I'm trying to configure the settings for different groups, different contexts, different features as much as possible without touching the template files.

The Tuning Tikiwiki pages in the doc would be incredibly handy, but as I'm writing, they're empty 😕
