UserPagefrey

I've been in the business of building software for a few years now. I am now taking a break in my career so I can finish my house and also work on the development of new forms of money, notably Open Money. You can read more about me here.